

Nicola Segata is an associate professor and principal investigator at the Segata lab. His background is in metagenomics, machine learning, microbiome research, and microbial genomics. He started and he is leading the Laboratory of Computational Metagenomics at the Centre for Integrative Biology (University of Trento).